Okay pedes those who know, I made a post about how we would if all else fails use the fourth box. I believe right now! We should have militias such as the 3 Percenters and Oath Keepers merge to form the Grand Army of The Republic. This is in case worse comes to worst. (media.patriots.win)

I agree but I think there needs to be a leader with a national voice to step up and make the call to arms. Before Lexington and Concord, there were uprisings and skirmishes but it took a few men to stand up and risk a charge of treason so they could be the focal point for a revolution. Do we have a leader like the  /? Is it Trump? Is it Gen. Flynn? Surely, both of them will lose everything if the commies get into the ova _____. I think there are enough free men who will rally but a brave leader will be necessary to add legitimacy .

▼ I'm a little concerned that pretty soon, some lone guy or a small group is going to take out a state politician somewhere. Maybe it will be someone who lost his business or a loved one to the wuflu and can't stand all the deep state lies and corrupt politicians.

Sooner or later someone will walk in to a state building and just start firing like a school shooter. That person will be written off as a white supremacist crackpot and nothing will come of it. In order for a movement to take shape, there has to be grass roots support (maybe from 3 Percenters or Oath Keepers) for a National leader with cohesive demands for election integrity and real ideas to point to.

▼ Yep that's my concern. That's why phase one of my plan is first forming the GAR. Second plan is informing the public about us and our goals and the crimes of the government as a whole. We would say we are not a racist organization end of discussion we fight for the liberty of ALL Americans.

I'm afraid the revolution could happen and it'd be a far right revolution that'd send us back hundreds of years. They'd probably say that women voting caused this, black people caused this and they'd use statistics to try and back up their claims and it'd work. I want constitutional republicanism to win the day!

▼ Sounds like a good and legitimate way of starting things off. Although, just between you and me, I'm not so sure that women voting didn't play a role in the leftist shift in western society politics. But that's a discussion for another day.

I hope you reach out to someone like Gen. Flynn for advice on this. He might be bolstered by your enthusiasm and encouraged to take the leap toward leadership that is needed now. He's already proven himself to be a leader of men. Is he willing to do it again?

▼ I'm writing up two manifestos. One directed towards republicans and one directed towards the government. I'll get in contact with the militias and keep people updated here on the Donald.

▼ As for the women thing, sad thing is most women are not based. If we make women based then they won't be an issue. Now the real issue isn't that any demographic has the right to vote. The problem is that we don't have a law that says only republicans get to vote.

▼ I disagree with him a lot but he has the facts I guess I'm just an idealist. Though I know many based women. Kayleigh is one. We just need to make people wake up. I don't think telling them certain people should lose suffrage is a good selling point.

▼ Now regarding the GAR, I believe having these men in it would be great. It'd be hard at first. We'd new banners, vehicles, flags, and uniforms. Personally I believe we should have a union styled blue uniform because it looks based. A cool looking uniform is half the battle.

▼ I made the logo, the slogan and name come from the early years of the Republican Party, when it was based and not cucked. Free Soil, Free labour, free men, was the original slogan of the party. Meaning no slavery, capitalism and free enterprise, and of course individual liberties. Grand Army of The Republic was the union veterans fraternity.

▼ I believe we need militias nation wide and even the proud boys to merge and become one Grand army of the republic with a commander in chief and chain of command. If worse comes to worst we need the Grand army of the republic to issue a manifesto demanding the republic be restored to its former state of freedom along with demands of the ceasing of the tolerance of slavery, mass immigration, and censorship.

We'd need to be clear in the manifesto to show we are not racist end of story. We demand Free soil and free labour which makes us free men. We demand all those in congress who have served for more than a decade to step down and for the Supreme Court justices and any court which failed to see or rule fairly in Trump's legal cases to resign. This would include a long list of demands going with it.

If this fails which it certainly will the GAR would begin the civil war by declaring the federal government is staging an insurrection against the constitution and the first strike would be on the power grid. This would follow with other attacks on infrastructure such as setting up minefields on exists of cities, blowing bridges of cities so no one can escape them, and the storming of several state capitals. All of this being done all in one day would mean the federal government couldn't act quick enough and the military would be plagued with defections.

Soon power would be consolidated in red counties and they'll be liberated by the GOA thus meaning the GOA would have agriculture and industry. The Chinese compromised federal government would be under tons of pressure. As food shortages start the cities would have riots. Soon it'd be just a matter of time before the GOA would win.

I'll admit I'm one dude but at least I have an idea and I'd love for this idea to spread.
